Alma Mater

On the banks of Lake
Menomin, ♣ Stands
our Alma Mater true, ♣
With tower high and brilliant "S"; ♣ For her
we'll dare and do. ♣
We'll sing her praises
many, ♣ We'll glorify her name, ♣ And on throughout the years of time, ♣ Our love for Stout proclaim.

Dedication

The noteworthy achievements of men and women in the fields of Industrial Arts and Home Economics Education merit our serious attention. Our Alma Mater has deemed it fitting to confer her highest honors upon these leaders. To them, in recognition of their splendid work, we are proud to dedicate this,

CHARLES ALLEN PROSSER

Of collegiate honors he has enough. His Bachelor's and Master's degrees, his Ph. D., his L. L. B., his L. L. D., from five great colleges left little for Stout to do toward adding honor to honors already bestowed. Yet because of his keen interest in the field of education for which Stout stands and because of his dominating position in that field it was particularly fitting that The Stout Institute should in 1925 confer upon Charles Allen Prosser the degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education.

ROBERT LAWRENCE COOLEY

Probably no man in recent years in any division or department of education because of actual accomplishment has become so widely known throughout America as has Robert Lawrence Cooley. He not only pioneered in part-time vocational education in this country but he has year after year maintained the lead in his chosen field of education. He has within a few years taken his place as the chief exponent of compulsory part-time education and has stood its able defender. The degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education was conferred upon him by The Stout Institute in 1923.

JOHN CALVIN WRIGHT

Under the leadership of John Calvin Wright, Director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, the new movement for vocational education has gone steadily forward year by year. He has influenced legislation, both state and national, has ironed out difficulties in various states, and made his own department into a harmonious and influential organization headed toward still greater accomplishments. The Stout Institute honored itself when it honored J. C. Wright by conferring upon him in 1926 the degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education.

LEWIS ALBERT WILSON

Lewis Albert Wilson is still a young man. During recent years he has done much to make secure the place of vocational and industrial education, but what he has done is of small consequence compared to what he will do in the years before him. Dr. Wilson is able, ingenious, and fearless. He has established himself in the confidence of those with whom he is associated. He is now better prepared to do significant things than before. Stout in 1926 showed its appreciation by conferring upon him the degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education.

CHARLES RICKETSON ALLEN

Modesty and ability walk well together in the person of Charles Ricketson Allen. Courtesy and tact are outstanding qualities in his personal attributes. His tireless application to any job added to those qualities just enumerated constitute the factors that have made him an outstanding character in the field of vocational education. His educational and experience record can be read anywhere. This space is better used to pay tribute to the man who has many times paid for any encomiums we may now accord to him. The Stout Institute conferred the Doctor of Science degree upon him in 1927.

GERALD DEFORREST WHITNEY

Having taken both undergraduate and graduate work at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Gerald DeForrest Whitney began his educational career along lines similar to those which have made Stout nationally known. That preparation supplemented by further work taken at the University of Pittsburg and at Columbia made possible his well known accomplishments in teaching and supervisory experience. His keen mind and his determined ambition, in addition to his record of accomplishments, well justified the honor conferred upon him by this institution in 1927 when he was granted the degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education.

ADELAIDE STEELE BAYLOR

The Stout Institute has been interested in Home Economics, Domestic Science, and Homemaking for many years. Miss Adelaide Steele Baylor has for several years devoted her masterful abilities to this same field of educational opportunity. As teacher, supervisor, lecturer, author, she has done much to advance the cause of Home Economics. Her work in many localities has been far reaching. She has become an outstanding exponent of the best and most practical in education of the women in America. Stout conferred upon her the degree of Doctor of Science in Home Economics in 1928.

NICHOLAS RICCIARDI

Nicholas Ricciardi earned both his Bachelor's and his Master's degrees in the University of California. His experience in teaching and his position as supervisor gave him still further preparation for the work which earned for him an enviable reputation. It is possible, however, that his earlier and varied experience in industry had as much to do with his later success as did his college training. As a lecturer and author he is widely known, particularly among those interested in industrial and vocational education. He was given his degree of Doctor of Science in Industrial Education in 1928.

Industry

No matter how loudly we may scoff at failure, we are always justified in forgiving the man who tries. Industry does not always result in notable attainment; however, it is certain that success is always the result of more than a mediocre effort.

Science

We weigh, we analyze, we measure, we shape;—and what is the result?—knowledge and experience. If it lies within human power to control the reins of destiny, certainly the parent and the teacher take turns at the driving.

MRS. CORDELIA WILLIAMS KENT

1887-1928

Walking through trees to cool my heat and pain.
I know that she is with me here again.
All that is simple, happy, strong, she is.
Caressingly I stroke
Rough bark of the friendly oak.
A brook goes babbling by; the voice is hers.
Turf burns with pleasant smoke;
I laugh at the birds and the flowers.
All that is simple, happy, strong, she is.
Over the whole wood in a little while Breaks her slow smile.

—Adapted from Robert Graves.

The Professionalizing of Teaching

Any college administration is gratified when there is evident on the part of the student group a spirit of loyalty and good will toward the institution. That attitude of mind is largely due to college associations and experiences. But the background, the history of the school, has its influence too; and to that I desire at this time to direct the thought not only of the class of 1929, to whom we are saying adieu, but to those who remain with us during the next two or three years.

Menomonie was the first city in the United States in which organized and systematic instruction was provided in all grades of public schools through the high school. The Stout Institute was the first teachers college to restrict its activities to the training of teachers of home economics and industrial education. In this respect it has made a definite contribution toward elevating the work of the teacher to the level of a profession.

The making of the business of teaching into a profession has been a long, tedious struggle and we are still far from the desired goal. When we refer to the profession of teaching we are by inference misrepresenting the fact. Law, medicine, and the ministry are recognized as professions. No matter how poor the lawyer may be or how unsuccessful the doctor may be he belongs to a profession.

There are many reasons why teaching has not yet attained the high rank to which it is entitled. Lawyers are trained in schools of law, ministers are educated in divinity schools, and doctors in medical schools. From four to seven years of serious application to study of the field in which they are expected to work is required of them. In every quarter of every year thru that long period emphasis is placed upon the one line of study and research with which the candidate began.

That is not true with teaching. Thru all these years teachers have been trained anywhere and everywhere. Today the situation is not much improved. Teachers still come from high schools and colleges of letters and science where much attention is given to languages and literature and very little to the child or the science of educating him. In these colleges the preparation of teachers is incidental. The only hope for better things lies with the teachers colleges which have declared their independence of the old-time university standards. Even those colleges will not do much toward the establishment of a profession until they, too, begin to specialize and prepare teachers for particular fields.

Teaching will not generally be referred to as a profession until the teachers colleges are recognized as the proper agencies for training teachers; nor until these colleges offer more specialized courses and experiences to particular groups of students preparing for specific departments in the teaching field. The Stout Institute stands as a pioneer in this field of specialization. When other teachers colleges follow the lead of the Stout Institute, and not till then, will teaching be dignified by universal recognition as a profession.

Scholarship Awards for 1928

At Commencement time the Eichelberger Scholarships were awarded to two men and two women of Senior rank upon the basis of scholarship, personality, future possibilities, social attitude, and value to the school. Henrietta Braker, Lucile Hagerty, Ray Werner, and Walter Jeske each received the award of one hundred dollars.

Two Sophomores and two Freshmen were given honors for the highest rank in scholarship in their respective classes. Those who were honored were Elizabeth Williams and Douglas Harris of the Sophomore class and Eleanor Overby and Ernest Christensen of the Freshmen class. This is the first time that this recognition has been given at the Commencement Exercises.

Seniors

OUR parting wish to our Alma Mater is: "Strive ever for a Bigger and Better Stout." The contacts of the past four years have, in general, been very agreeable and profitable to each of us. It is true that we are leaving this campus, but we are not through with The Stout Institute; our future performance will reflect good or bad upon the reputation of this school, even as our work as students has left its mark.

We do not pretend to have built colossal monuments during our four year sojourn, but it is our honest hope that we have creditably supported this school in its activities, and that we have been participants in its most noble aspirations.

It is with deep feeling that we look back upon our years at The Stout Institute. Whatever regrets we may have we attribute to our own shortcomings; however, regrets are the product of unconcern and are about to be replaced by our determination to co-operate in spreading the fame of this institution throughout the forty-eight States. Stout, we will answer when you call.

Juniors

Juniors

MAY the Junior Class ever aspire to greater heights and may approval follow our earnest efforts. This is no time for reminiscence, for intensive restrospection may be a sign of approaching old age.

We are as a builder hewing his stone to-day, that to-morrow he may build a palace; even so we are polishing the rough material with which to upheld a standard of learning, skill, industry, and honor which our profession strives to attain.

Tomorrow will be a new day, but its success depends largely upon to-day's efforts. In the light of this truth we look upon this year's experiences not for what they mean as history in 1929, but for their significance a decade hence.

The Third Annual Junior Prom

THE Third Annual Junior Prom was held on Saturday evening, April twentieth. In a ballroom which was decorated in Chinese effects, a record aggregation danced to the music of Brant's Hot Points of Wells, Minnesota. A fine social atmosphere prevailed throughout the evening; students and guests declared the party a most pleasurable occasion.

Sophomores

SERVICE in a noble cause always gives the donor a sense of pride and satisfaction. When we have given our best for our school, we can be justly proud that we have supported a worthy enterprise and that the best will return to us.

Many avenues have been open to us for the exercising of our talents; athletics, band, glee clubs, and other extra curricular activities have enrolled a goodly quota of Sophomores. We appreciate the wide field of opportunities for physical and mental expansion.

It is our desire, in every way, to augment the spirit of Stout, and to make ourselves an integral part of the organization which constitutes the Stout Student Body.

We realize that the fellowship of man with man is of inestimable value and that the acquaintances of our college career will form lasting bonds, treasured memories which will be an enduring source of much pleasure. Campus social life has done considerable to extend our circle of friends; rooting at an athletic contest, talking in friendly groups, or having a jolly good time at the week end dances,—each has had its part in making our school life more enjoyable and complete.

Freshmen

Freshmen

WE OF the Freshmen class do feel fully initiated into college life. During the past school year we have tasted the first of our college joys and sorrows, and we find the sampling good.

The tendency is for us to review our first year at The Stout Institute with an uncalled-for feeling of bravado. Looking back, we may consider the accomplishments of the year momentous; however, we realize that the demands of the future will be increasingly great, and, although our work has been well done, we have yet many enjoyable problems to solve before we will have become alumni of this institution.

We gladly admit that September found us very green indeed,—susceptible to Sophomore hazing and the ravages of homesickness. But we have outgrown all of that. We have made new friends and we are fairly well acclimated to the Stout way of doing things. Our green caps are about to be supplanted by the complementary red of a Sophomore Banner, and the Class of '33 will do its utmost to uphold the honor and dignity of its position throughout the succeeding year.

Stout Student Association

THE Stout Student Association of 1928-29 has endeavored to carry out, according to the constitution, the purpose of this major school organization. It has always tried to make this a bigger and better Stout by constant co-operation with the administration. During this year the purpose of this organization has been to carry out the assigned duties. These duties were discharged by the four officers, as elected by the association members; namely, the secretary and the treasurer, who were elected in the spring of 1928, and the president and the vice-president, who were elected during the second week of school in the fall term.

The major purposes of the organization are fourfold: to provide smoothness in the discharge of student activities through scheduling all school and social events on both a weekly and yearly calendar; to distribute to the Band, Men's Glee Club, Girls' Glee Club, Manual Arts Players, Athletic Association, Lyceum, Stoutonia, and the Stout Student Association the money received at registration time as an activity fee; to issue to the members of the Stout Student Association the master tickets which give admittance to entertainments sponsored by the above organizations; to take charge of all student assemblies; and to organize plans for Homecoming and Commencement.

Any student, faculty member, or member of the office staff, with the members of his immediate family, may become a member of the association by paying the activity fee of four dollars per semester.

Homecoming of this year 1928-29, was celebrated on October 19, 20, and 21. The Stout Student Association officers in charge of the event laid plans and distributed the work to various committees and organizations. The 1928 Homecoming celebration was proclaimed an overwhelming success and was, without doubt, the largest event of its kind ever held at the college.

The officers of the Stout Student Association wish to thank the faculty and student body for the fine spirit and constant co-operation displayed during the entire year. It is only through these means that it will be possible to maintain a strong organization and to uphold the high standards of our Alma Mater.

Homecoming

October 19 and 20 marked two of the most exciting days of the year on the Stout campus.

Friday was given over to the completion of Homecoming decorations. The entrances and main corridor of the Home Economics building soon became a grand array of autumn hues. The cafeteria was transformed into a Mardi Gras banquet hall of red, orange, yellow, and green. Clusters of gay balloons shimmered in the light of clever lanterns. The gym became a state-ly ballroom of our royal colors, Blue and White. All day the students extended hearty welcomes to returning alumni.

At 8 o'clock, alumni, faculty, students, and towns-folk filed into the auditorium to see "The Patsy" presented by the Manual Arts Players. Now we know that "there's no use crying over spilt milk, cuz there's too much water in it already."

Twenty minutes after the curtain fell the Legion drum corps was playing; the Student Body assembled in sleeping attire; and crowds lined the streets. On to the Great Bonfire, the pajamaites zig-zagged and cheered. In the dazzling light of the roaring blaze, which broke high in the heavens, the traditional and solemn matrimonial ceremony at last happily united the Sophomores and Freshmen. Pep was high and midnight came too soon.

---

Saturday's program put forth a compact series of events, backed by an ideal day of warmth and still blue skies. After a morning of many successful gatherings, alumni and students met in the auditorium for a mass meeting. Pep and enthusiasm scored again.

An impressive alumni luncheon was served at noon in the parlors of the Mabel Tainter Memorial.

One of the best parades ever witnessed on the streets of Menomonie made its way to the football field. The game marked the climax of the day's excitement which did not die even as the gun went off and Stout was defeated by Stevens Point 25 to 7.

The disappointment over the score was soon forgotten when the clappers and whistles of the brilliant banquet hall filled the air.

On with the dance, and until midnight the Dreamland Live Wires furnished syncopated rhythms which appropriately finished a glorious day.

With the exception of the bon-fire picture, the scenes on these pages are reproductions of floats from the Homecoming Day parade. Almost every organization was represented by a float. The M. A. P.'s received first prize with their representation of a triumphal entry in true Roman style. The second prize was awarded to Lynwood Hall, and the third to the Science Club.

The Stout Student Association Advisory Board

THIS year finds the Stout Student Association Advisory Board completing its third year of existence. As is very evident, more and more matters pertaining to student life and student affairs have been delegated to this group. The board consists of four regularly elected officers of the Stout Student Association and one man and one woman elected by each of the four classes, Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior. The board is an official arm of the Stout Student Association, and also represents the students through their class organizations. The president of the Stout Student Association is ex-officio president of the Student Board.

In carrying out its work, the Advisory Board acts in conference and co-operation with the Faculty Committee on College Organization. This committee consists of the Director of the School of Industrial Arts, the Director of the School of Household Arts, and four members of the faculty chosen by the president of the college.

The 1929 Tower Staff

THIS annual is a happy reminder of the past school year. It has required considerable effort to produce the book, but we may consider the production very worth while, and the satisfaction now derived has more than repaid the staff for its efforts.

However, this business of Tower building is a co-operative enterprise. The student body is dependent upon the staff for the finished book; the staff members, in turn, must be aided by an enthusiastic student group. This system has worked out nicely; we hope that you have enjoyed the feature events of the year to such an extent that the 1930 staff may proceed with confidence in planning numbers for your entertainment and for the financial benefit of the following volume.

The Stoutonia

THE STOUTONIA, weekly publication of The Stout Institute, is the medium of expression through which the activities of the campus are made available to students and outside subscribers.

During the week of March 15, THE STOUTONIA celebrated the fourteenth anniversary of its existence as an extra-curricular activity of The Stout Institute. In these fourteen years, THE STOUTONIA has made considerable progress, and each new volume is material evidence of the effort being constantly put forth to improve it.

The staff of THE STOUTONIA is composed of students who find the work personally enjoyable and beneficial in the development of the art of expression through the written word. The personnel of the staff strives, through persistent effort, to fulfill its aim of giving its readers the most timely material of interest in the most complete and reliable form.

The Stout Typographical Society

A MAJOR interest in a major field, the Stout Typographical Society has become a helpful organization for those who are interested in the field of printing. The men benefit not only from the advantages to be derived from this society, which offers information and knowledge concerning printing, publishing, and problems confronting teachers of printing, but also enjoy the closer co-operation and fellowship with its members.

In the four years of its existence, this organization has grown to be one of the most active organizations in the school. It includes in its membership practically every man enrolled in advanced courses in printing. There are three different degrees granted by the society, given only to the members who through persistent effort and study have proved themselves worthy of the various stages in development. The degrees granted are respectively: Apprentice, Journeyman, and Master. Upon initiation the member automatically becomes an apprentice, and further advancement is acquired only through the successful passing of a special examination.

The society convenes bi-monthly on Wednesday evenings. Assisting in the problems of the club are men who have been successful teachers or workers in the trade, and who freely offer to the club the benefit of their experience. The outstanding social event in each semester is the initiation of new members. This organization has in the past sponsored many school dances.

The Stout Athletic Council

THE Stout Athletic Council is an organization whose chief purpose is to determine the athletic policies of the school. It aims to encourage all forms of athletics, both intercollegiate and intramural. The awards of letters, emblems, and monograms are specified and controlled by this committee.

Faculty representatives are appointed by the college president. They constitute a standing committee whose personnel remains the same from year to year. Two student representatives are elected from each class; they hold office for one year.

The Manual Arts Players

THE Manual Arts Players have completed another happy and successful season. The Commencement play presented on May 23, 1928, was one of the most beautiful plays ever seen in the Stout Auditorium. It was the romantic comedy, "Smilin' Through." The opening dramatic event of the 1928-29 season was the presentation of the sparkling comedy, "The Patsy." Early in December the club offered an unusually attractive play for the Christmas season, "The Prince Chap." On March 15, a character comedy entitled "Kempy" was given as a spring feature.

One of the most significant projects of the year in dramatics at Stout was the participation of the Manual Arts Players in the state-wide Play Tournament of the Wisconsin Dramatic Guild. The selected play, "A Fan and Two Candlesticks," was presented in the Stout Auditorium on March nineteenth, and then entered in the four-day Tournament at Madison on March twenty-third. The entire trip was financed by the club, and members felt rewarded for their efforts. The production was distinctive in artistic values, and was placed second in the state finals. Members of the cast were Janet Kyle, Eugene McLeod, and Albert Hansen.

Stout Metallurgy Club

THIS year marks the fifth anniversary of the Metallurgy Club. The organization strives to be helpful to students interested in metals and metal working by bringing them together in friendly discussion groups, and by presenting the more recent developments of the metal industry in orderly topic form. The members realize a benefit both through their participation and through listening to the reports of experienced metal workers who have appeared on many of the club's programs.

However, the Metallurgy does not seek to be merely a study organization. The club sponsors many social events among its own members as well as occasional all school entertainments.

♦ The Stout Metallurgy has been growing steadily in importance and numbers, and each member feels amply repaid for the effort which he has expended in order that his organization may thrive.

Stout Band

AT the beginning of the school-year, about thirty students joined this organization. No restrictions were made as to ability or experience. It was the purpose of the director to develop a band from the material available.

The members have proved themselves loyal by putting other interfering engagements aside and attending rehearsals. The football and basket-ball seasons were made more peppy and more enjoyable, we hope, because the band was "on deck" and played at the games. Again the students showed their support and appreciation by taking the band to Eau Claire as a special pep feature.

A number of concerts have been given in the assembly throughout the year. In this way the band gave the student body an idea of what it could do in a truly musical way.

Practice in directing is a popular phase of the band's purpose, of which many of the Seniors take advantage because of its practical value.

The Men's Glee Club

THE Men's Glee Club aims to develop the general musical ability of its members through intensive study of both the classical and the lighter types of quarter work. Selections for membership are made on a strictly competitive basis, at the beginning of each school year. Of late years, the organization has consisted of a chorus of sixteen voices.

Appearances have been made, at different times, before assemblages of local business and religious organizations, and a fine concert was rendered at the close of the season's work.

We are proud to say that the glee club is a growing organization, and is keeping step with other student activities. Each year an increased number of men have reported for tryouts, and the interest shown by the appointed members has been exceptionally keen.

Stout Rifle Club

THE club was organized May 17, 1927, affiliated with the National Rifle Association, and held its first meeting for the school year 1928-29 soon after the opening of the first semester. The club, totaling thirty-four members, was divided into two teams, permitting every member to receive his full share of rifle shooting under the guidance of a competent instructor. All phases of rifle practice and marksmanship are taught according to and in compliance with the rules and regulations given by the National Rifle Association.

Competitive and prize shoots were held between the two teams, and with local rifle teams.

Through the courtesy and co-operation of the local Company A officers, their splendid outdoor range is used for target practice with high powered rifles.

The Hyperian Society

THE Hyperian Society, as a social service organization, aims to study some of the social welfare problems and to participate, when possible, in local projects of that nature.

Among the projects sponsored during the past year are a Christmas party for needy children, story hours at the Memorial Library, and the maintenance, in part, of a twenty months old "son."

This year a news letter sent to all alumni acquainted them with the work and accomplishments of the society.

Tainter Annex

Rose and amber was the sunset on the lake.
Red-rose the hills;
High upon their brows, the black tree-branches
Spread wide across the evening sky.

LOCATED high above the shores of Lake Menomin and surrounded by towering pine-trees, Tainter Annex is a most attractive college home. Many times in the evening the girls gather in groups about the grounds, or within the hall in the spacious living-room. There, before the great fireplace, "the home fire's the happy fire," and the room is a lovely place.

During the past year many social affairs have been held. Open House at Homecoming time brought alumni, faculty, students, and parents. Cancelling the traditional feud between Sophomores and Freshmen, the Sophomores entertained the lower class-women, and were entertained in turn by them. At holiday time, the girls sang Christmas carols, enjoyed a party, and were visited by a real Santa Claus; at Easter time, they entertained friends. The girls who live at the Annex will ever have happy memories of their years in the home on the brow of the hill.

Tainter Hall

Bertha Tainter Hall, once the resident home of an old family prominent during the pioneer days, is the oldest of the three dormitories for students of Home Economics at Stout. The hall accommodates about thirty girls, only members of the upper classes being admitted.

Lynwood Hall

The House of Jollity and Fun

HERE'S to ourselves—the 1928-29 group, who have played and worked together. The year is gone; most of it will always be bright in memory—the special parties, the "At Home" after the Homecoming football game when there were hot coffee and doughnuts for all the Stoutites; the Thanksgiving tables with all that was beautiful, delicious, and funny; the reception to faculty and others when the mercury was almost lost at 30 degrees below; then the jolly St. Patrick's party when Lynwood was suddenly turned into a men's dormitory with Pats everywhere in green coats and black trousers, dancing with the pretty colleens, our guests; the picnic with wholesome fun and good eats at Galloway Creek; and let's not forget the P. J. birthday celebrations in the basement. Lynwood may have happy groups in the future years, but we doubt if there can be a happier one than the 1928-29.

The Marquette-La Salle Club

THE Marquette-La Salle Club is the Catholic young women's and young men's club of The Stout Institute. At present, the enrollment is about thirty.

The purposes of the club are: to promote common interests of the Catholic young women and men at Stout; to create a feeling of fellowship and co-operation among these students by affording them a means of becoming better acquainted with one another; to inspire confidence and self-reliance when in the presence of others, by means of parliamentary practice and other activities; to co-operate with other organizations of the school in social and other affairs; and to serve as an agent in the development and perpetuation of high moral character.

The Stout Lutheran Student Association

The purpose of the Stout Lutheran Student Association is to promote the interest of the Lutheran students at Stout. It relates to the program of the Lutheran Church at large, and presents in all legitimate ways to Stout students the various needs of the Lutheran Church, especially in the field of leadership and personnel.

Meetings are held the third Wednesday night of each month. There have been fifty active members of the association this year.

Finite and Infinite

God sets no stakes to say, "Here is an end."
Nor seeks to lay a chain from orb to orb,
Nor plats the awful voids that stretch between
Some far-flung stellar system and our own.
To God both Time and Distance are as one,
And lifetimes tiny beads that hang as strands
Which men denote an epoch or an age.
But vaunting man, who ever blindly seeks
To make of God an image of himself,—
Thinks of all creatures he's the Lord's elect
'Tis only he makes much ado of ends.
And were God man how once He would have laughed
When His vain bipeds solemnly declared
That without doubt the great, round Earth is flat!

—W. B. D.

September Sail

The lake is cold in September,
But boating's worth the effort.
One day, Hank and I sailed up the lake
Head on with a strong west wind;
And built a fire by the shore
To cook some supper.

We put the sail to windward
To half-way shed the breeze,
And I wrecked eggs on bread
And flopped 'em with the pan,
To her surprise and admiration too;—
She's got a lot to learn about outdoors.

But I started out to tell
The beauty of a fall fringed lake.
When a fellow appreciates a sun
That doesn't burn at all;
And the water slaps the boat
With a jingle near like ice.

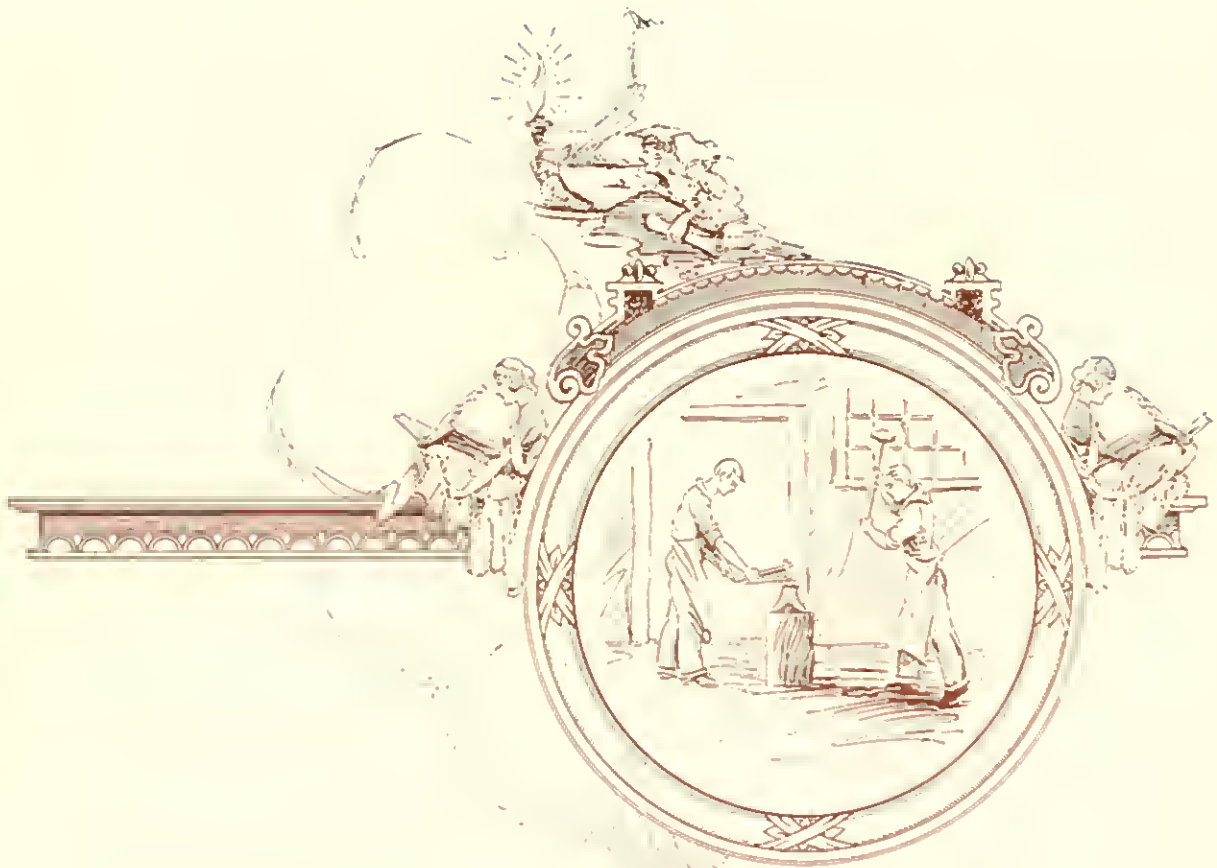

It's God's lake.
He lets the lovers boat there in the spring,
The lazy ones to loaf in summer,
But He lets us use it in the fall
Who love it most and know its ways,
In the last of September.

I admit it, gladly,
I shivered in the wind behind the sail,
And Hank crawled deeper in the blankets.
Coming back I had to paddle all the way;
I did put my sweater on the thwart,
But work was all that made me warm.

There's something about a cold moon
That makes a finer sheen
Than summer ever casts;
And fools me when the weed bed
Takes flight across the water
And mud hens haste away.

Yes, I like the lake in summer,
In spring, and winter too,
But a fall day's the time
For lovers of the great outdoors;
When wild birds migrate
And appetite is at its best.

—D. W. H.

Athletics

Metalworking

True education trains the mind, develops the body, and enriches the spirit. The true value of competitive athletics is often underestimated, for good sportsmanship is among the most noble of human attributes.

EMIL RAHJA

Emil Rajah was a student at The Stout Institute during the years 1925 and 1926. He was an unusually competent scholar and was active in inter-collegiate athletics. While participating in a football game, Rajah sustained injuries which have been the indirect cause of much suffering. He is, at the present time, residing at Chisholm, Minnesota, where he is convalescing.

Alumni, faculty, and students are banking on Emil's recovery, and are awaiting the day when he will again be seen on the Stout campus.

S. E. PAULUS

Coach S. E. Paulus is one of the finest coaches of the conference. He knows how to handle men well and is very consistent in whatever he undertakes to do. Good sportsmanship is one of his standards in athletics, and whether the team wins or loses, we can always depend upon witnessing a good battle.

1929 Football Season

CAPTAIN MARTY OPEM

During the past two years Captain Marty Opem was a mainstay of Stout's football team. He always fought a game battle until the last whistle was blown.

Marty did his best to help bring about a winning football team, but handicapped by new material and injuries throughout the season, the team was as successful as could be expected.

CAPTAIN-ELECT MAC MORRISON

ST. PAUL LUTHER COLLEGE HERE

The first game of the season was played with St. Paul Luther College. The Trainers had little difficulty in defeating the St. Paul eleven. Score, 25-0, in favor of Stout. In this game, the coaches gave the majority of the boys a chance to show their stuff. Captain Opem, Decker, and Paciotti were the mainstays of Stout.

ROLLY DECKER

TOM OLSON

KOKOMO HARRIS

CHET BROWN

LA CROSSE AT MENOMONIE

The next game was played with the last year's champions, La Crosse, which turned out to be a tie, 6-6, both teams scoring on breaks. The teams were evenly matched and both played very good football. While Stout was weak in the first half, the men came back in the second period and showed their superior strength over the Physical Ed boys of La Crosse.

FORT SNELLING THERE

Due to Stout's injuries and new material, the Soldiers gave the Trainers their first defeat of the year, the score being 13-7. In this second non-conference game, the coaches gave all the reserves an opportunity to display their football ability.

RIVER FALLS HERE

Stout's old rival, River Falls, came to Menomonie with the reputation of a smooth and powerful eleven. The Trainers outplayed the visitors during the first half, leaving the score 0-0. Both teams came back in the second half determined to score. The Falls, aided by their plunging fullback, Clafflin, succeeded in defeating Stout 12-0.

Decker, Notebaart, and Paciotti were the outstanding players of the Stout team.

STEVENS POINT HERE

Homecoming was a huge success, but it was darkened a bit by the Stevens Point victory of 25-7. Many of Stout's old gridiron players were back to cheer for their Alma Mater. The boys fought courageously to fulfill the hopes of all the alumni and students who were cheering for a win, but the Pointers, having a more experienced and a heavier team, outelassed our boys. The Trainers seemed unable to get their bearing, and when the half ended, they were on the short end of a 19-0 score.

At the beginning of the second half, Stout seemed to break loose and gained constantly, scoring a touchdown when Schwartz threw a beautiful pass to Greeley, who, with the aid of good interference, went over for Stout's only tally. Paciotti kicked goal.

JACK NOTEBAART

PASH PACIOTTI
All-Conference Tackle

Greeley, Opem, Notebaart, Olson, Paciotti, Decker, and Harris played their last game on the home grounds.

Paciotti's work at tackle during this game did much to place the only Stout man on the all conference team picked by the coaches.

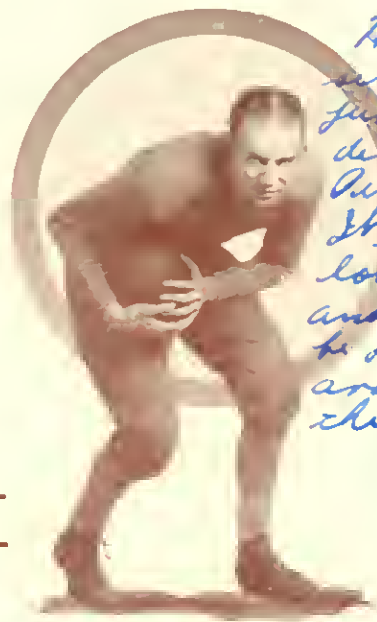

BEN SCHWARTZ

AT SUPERIOR

Superior's powerful team came into scoring action and defeated us by a score of 70-12. None of Stout's plays seemed to work except the passing combinations in which Notebaart showed his keen ability to catch passes.

At Eau Claire

AT LIFE'S darkest moment, Stout turned what looked like a sure defeat into sudden victory over Eau Claire, 14-13, in Eau Claire's Homecoming game.

During the first period there was an exchange of punts, and neither team scored.

Eau Claire opened the second quarter with a short drive which was halted when they fumbled on Stout's 36 yard line. Stout began a march with runs by Open and Decker. With the ball in the shadow of their own goal posts, Eau Claire held for three downs, but on the fourth play Marty threw a perfect pass to Notebaart who went over for a touchdown. Paciotti place-kicked for the extra point.

Eau Claire scored soon after the second half started, when they blocked Stout's punt; however, they did not duplicate the extra point.

Early in the fourth quarter, Eau Claire scored an additional touchdown by means of a sweeping end run. They kicked goal, making the score 13-7. Only two minutes remained of the final quarter when Bennie Schwartz threw a nice pass to Lu Paulus, who raced within 15 yards of the Eau Claire goal line. Marty made three yards through tackle; Decker smashed through the line for the remaining twelve yards, scored a touchdown, and tied the score. Everyone prayed that Pash would come through with one of his kicks; he kicked a perfect goal, which pushed the score up to 14-13 in favor of Stout.

Top row: Kern, Harris, Olson, Rude, Notebaart.
 Third row: Heath, Reeder, Muller, Morrison, Riggs.
 Second row: Paciotti, Brown, Coach Paulus, Ass't Coach Van Putten, Paulus, Wallin.

At Whitewater

In the last game of the season, Whitewater seemed to be better trained in maneuvers of navigation than our boys. They evidently were used to playing in a sea of mud and water, because they had all the necessary equipment to bring their fleet through to an overwhelming victory. The last game of the season ended with Whitewater at the long end of a 40-0 score.

Our Cheer Leaders

WITH Toby Emerson as Rooter King, and with Al Poellinger and Bill Gardiner as his right-hand men, marked improvement in Stout's cheering has been apparent. A yell is a yell with most people, but when this trio steps before a cheering section, a yell becomes an inspiration. Whether we have won or lost, these boys have put PEP into the crowd, and the bleachers still seem to be echoing back our "Fight, Stout, Fight."

Toby has put his heart into his task, and has done his best to organize and train his men; Bill Gardiner, a member of last year's team, has lost most of his former bashfulness, but still retains his contagious grin; and Al Poellinger's smiling countenance and ready wit always have seemed consistent with the spirit of a successful pep assembly.

We feel that the students have responded enthusiastically to all calls for pep demonstrations, which fact itself speaks well for the personnel of Stout's cheer leading team. They're a peppy bunch and we're proud of them.

Dear "Arv."

We have had some things in common such as Stout, M. H. S. and Co. A. Best wishes to you.

Sincerely,
Basket-ball

CAPTAIN ROLLIE DECKER

No team ever had a leader who set a more eager pace than Decker did during this basket-ball season. For three years Rol was a mainstay of Stout's basket-ball team. No matter whether his team was winning or losing, his consistent fighting spirit carried the morale to his team-mates.

Decker deserves great credit for the time and effort put forth in helping to bring Stout's athletics up with the rest of the conference.

BUCK SCHAUDÉ

For two years Buck has been on the varsity. He is small but outpaces his opponents on the floor. He came through when called upon to do a pinch-hitter's duty. His service to the squad has been of great value.

JOHNNIE RUDE

John was a utility man who saw action in most of the conference games. He also played in every position and handled himself well. As this was his first season, he will be on deck next year.

STEVE CVENGROS

Becoming a regular as the season progressed, Stike Cvengros played the center position for the last eight games. His ability to out-jump his opponents and to play the forward zone earned him this position. We look forward to seeing Stike strut his stuff in the next two years.

Dear Glen -
 Don't forget
 our we were plenty dumb
 but got in. Lefty
 see you. Lefty

LEFTY HANSON

Lefty played opposite Deck in Stout's defense. Playing his first year of varsity ball, he came through beautifully. He is a fast and rugged guard and during the past season he consistently broke through the defense to count for baskets. He will be another veteran back next year.

DAN EVANS

After trying Dan at guard and center, Coach Van Putten decided Dan was a forward, and this position he played the last three games. Dan seemed to take the boys out of their shooting slump. He did his share to contribute to the score board.

JAY PRIEST

Coming back to Stout after previous experience on a Trainer squad, Jay again filled in when called upon in the 1929 season. Although only entering a few games, he was a faithful worker throughout the season.

BUD MICHEELS

As the season progressed, Bud, another frosh, was used regularly at a forward position because of his clever floor work and endurance. His all-around playing overshadowed his inability to find the basket.

LU PAULUS

Paulus started the basket-ball season with consistent basket shooting; but fell into a slump. Lu, however, played effectively in all but one conference game. He could be depended upon when called into action at the most crucial moment.

1929 Basket-Ball Season

THE 1929 Basket-ball season once more proved the old basket-ball maxim that the team that throws the ball through the hoop the most times wins. Had the number of shots counted, our Blue Devils would have been right up there with the conference leaders, but inability to "conneet" kept us out of the race.

Coach Van Putten worked up a nice combination that could take the ball through for shots which, if made, would have put several lost games in the win column. The fact that there were two freshmen on the varsity and that, with the exception of Decker and Schaudé, it was the first year of varsity competition for every member of the squad may have been the reason for the luckless shooting. An ounce of luck would have put over several close games for us.

At Eau Claire

THE final game of the season was played at home against our traditional rivals from Eau Claire. It was a nip and tuck game throughout. With three minutes to go, three of our regulars were on the sidelines, having come there via the personal foul route. Our one point lead didn't look big enough, but a clever stall which gave us a final basket won the game, 24-21. It was a fine finish of a hard season during which our team fought throughout.

October

5. Men's Glee Club entertained a large crowd at a mixer dance.
6. We played Fort Snelling there.
8. The Sophs again made use of the water tank at the other end of town. Said feature was enjoyed by everyone—so the Frosh said.
9. Tower began struggle with senior pictures. Juniors are almost as bashful.
10. Frosh take the offensive and the green banner floats from the Tower all night. Some of us wondered why Harmon chose to serenade that part of town.
11. Our first Lyceum number, Harry Farbman, violinist, and Clara Scheville, contralto, was well attended.
12. Enthusiasm ran high at the River Falls game, although the final score was somewhat in favor of the Falls. S. T. S. held another of their peppy initiations.
18. Sophs established supremacy in the second bag rush.
19. First alums appear on the campus. School adjourned and we got ing in the history of Stout. The M. A. P. play was the opening event, followed by the traditional ready for the biggest Homecoming
- pajama parade, bonfire, and Frosh-Soph conciliation. It was great to have Reppy and Norris back to lead us in a couple of cheers.
20. The big day! The student body was full of pep at the game after the big parade, and enthusiasm ran high. Lynwood entertained at "Open House." Les Loomer, '28, was elected head of the first S. club. Banquet and dance completed festivities for Saturday.
21. The dorms entertained at "Open House." Departing alums agreed with us that this was the most successful Homecoming in the history of Stout.
22. Monday; we were forced to convince ourselves that Homecoming was already in the past.
25. Superintendent Ballentine advises: "Stretch out thy hand and lay hold of its tail."
26. Societies issued first rushing invitations to "women only."

November

1. Miss Walsh spoke to the Assembly on "Three One Day Trips Abroad." The Inky Fingers greeted their new members in the Band Box.
2. M. A. P.'s entertained at a dance in the gym. Remember? You brought lunch!
3. We defeated Eau Claire there by a score of 14-13. This was one of the peppiest games of the season.
4. Societies held acceptance teas for pledges.
5. Something new! The library open in the evening for the first time.
6. Election day. Straw vote of assembly was not confirmed.
8. We all turned out to see the annual hobo football game. A few fortunates left for Madison Homecoming.
11. Armistice Day. A new quarter began for I. E. students.
16. Team got a big send-off for the Whitewater game.
22. We heard the quality of the band in assembly. Those saxaphones certainly were wonders; at least that is what some of us thought.
24. Did we lose or make money on the Wisconsin-Minnesota game? Some of us bet feeds instead of the hard cash.
27. Budding reporters held a Turkey dinner in the Band box.
29. Thanksgiving.
30. We all turned out in our best garb for the Annual Tacky Drag. Have a good time? Ask Sid.

Dear Arville,

I suppose you'll remember me as the scratch girl that was homesick. That's all right; I got the five cents anyway.
The people that came from Minnesota
maybe the bunk but don't forget Minnesota is all right.

Wishing you good luck and success.

Ev.

Cold the Blast May Blow

February

1. We found that it was not uncommon to see Georgia and Jo braving the winter's blasts together.
4. The Sophs defeated the Frosh in basket-ball.
5. Societies began their formal initiation.
- 6-7. The Tower benefit movie. "Someone to Love."
8. The gala event of the season, the M. A. P. costume ball. Also the Frosh strut their stuff with a banquet and a day all their own.
11. Hyperians held a cookie sale in the corridor.
12. We regret that Lincoln wasn't born on a holiday.
13. Three hundred of us accompanied the Varsity to Eau Claire where we succeeded in having a grand time.
16. We met the famous redbirds on home territory.
18. Annex co-eds defeat Lynwood in basket-ball. Jo gave support from the side-lines.
19. Still victorious, the Annexers defeat the Soph team by a close score.
22. Stevens Point played here. M. A. P. card party.
23. The Inky Fingers elect Laurretta Schmidt. Ruling Pen.

March

1. Revenge is sweet. We defeat Eau Claire in one of the best games of the season by a score of 24-21.
4. President Nelson returned from an extensive trip in the East.
6. The faculty give the Seniors a few tips on basket-ball technique in the armory.
Our third Lyceum number: Elizabeth Kerr and Lester Spring.
9. S. M. A. had a grand and glorious sleigh-ride.
14. Gilles, Lefty, Whiting, and Hawkes performed for us in assembly. We suggest that they go on the road instead of out in the field.
15. M. A. P. put on the snappy play, "Kempy."
16. Lynwood entertained all Stout girls at a St. Patrick's day party.
17. Despite the weather, there was plenty of green on the Stout campus.
18. Campus Izaak Walton's rush the season slightly but declare the turn-out better than expected.
19. M. A. P. presented the tournament play of "A Fan and Two Candlesticks."
20. Y. W. C. A. cabinet election.
21. We had our first student assembly. We didn't know we had so many undiscovered orators.
23. M. A. P. play took second place in the state meet at Madison. The first De-Molay semi-formal was a big success.
26. The Sophs won the swimming meet. The water pageant was one of the best yet.
27. We count the days, and the lucky ones leave for home.
29. Vacation officially began at 4:45.

April

1. Miss McCalmont misses Y. W. meeting. April Fool.
4. Tower puts on Kollech Night. For once, local merchants declared that they sold out their supply of peanuts.
5. Girls' Glee Club concert at the Memorial.
6. S. S. A. dance and Areme card party.
Carroll College Glee Club at the Congregational Church.
11. Van has spring fever, plays hookey, and goes to Madison.
12. Men's Glee Club.
13. Y. W. C. A. retreat and dinner.
14. Lake Menomin at last into its own, and claims a goodly number of canoeists.
16. Ya going to the Prom? Whadda ya goin' to wear?
18. Dr. Bachman cuts assembly to count petri dishes.
19. Fair co-eds are busy breaking in new punps.
20. The third annual Junior Prom was led by Gould Morrison and Geraldine Anderson.
22. Lyceum: Tony Sarg's Marionettes.
24. The Frosh display some real talent in their short stories.
26. No doubt you all know that school closes in May this year!
29. The chemistry labs claim their quota of struggling chemists.
30. Anyway, we upper classmen can wish them luck in their unknowns. We know they need it.

Good Bye and Good Luck

May

3. The May Basket Follies hit the spot; long live the spirit of appropriate, well-timed hilarity.
4. A charming luncheon was given by the Home Economics Faculty in honor of the Senior Women. We are finally constrained to believe that teachers are not so bad after all.
The last Stout Student Association Dance proved to be a decided success.
5. The 1929 harvest of May flowers is in full swing; we notice, however, that no one is seen on a flower-picking expedition unaccompanied.
9. Mike is glad to have his canoes in use again; his fortune would be a certainty were every afternoon of a Sunday.
23. Athletic awards were issued in assembly; Johnnie Rude said that the occasion was the nearest thing to pay day that he had had for a long time.
- Oho! those exams; if Mother could only see me now.
24. Remember if we have er'ed in writing this, the month of May, we are none the less faithful; however, we may be poor prophets.
25. The Seniors had their last get-together dinner as students of The Stout Institute.
26. Baccalaureate services were held in The Stout Auditorium.
27. This was Class Day. President and Mrs. Burton E. Nelson gave a reception for all Seniors.
28. The Senior Class Play was attended by a record crowd.
29. This our Commencement day; good bye and good luck. Thank you very much, Mr. Cooper, for your excellent address.
30. Stout, another year has passed. We, the students, allow you two weeks of rest until the 1929 Summer Session.

Puddles

Oh the shadows, in the puddles, on the sidewalks, in the spring
    When the birds begin to sing,
In an early fog that hovers like a heavy living thing,
They are deep, dark shadows—still and silent, on the sidewalks,
    In the spring.

When I waken in the morning to a day that's just begun,
My senses are surrounded with the essences of spring;
I can touch it, breath it, hear it, as I yawn, and stretch to greet it,
I can see it—
In the shadows, in the puddles, on the sidewalks, in the spring.

It sets my heart a-thumping for the privilege I bear,
To start the day by walking, stopping, staring at the fathom
    Depth reflected,
By the steady cold snow water;
I'm exalted—
By the shadows, in the puddles, on the side walks, in the spring.

I con the clear sharp outline of an aged leafless oak,
Lengthened in the depth of water to a mammoth tree of art.
Lest I break the reverent silence,
I stand breathless—
By the shadows, in the puddles, on the sidewalks, in the spring.

—Henrietta Braker

Music was prohibited within certain hours within the precincts of a certain college. But one student found the saxophone more interesting than his studies. Next day he received a note from a higher authority: "Much against my better judgment, and for purposes of discipline only, I am compelled to regard your saxophone playing as music."

---

Doctor, I'm going to die.
What makes you think so?
My life-time pen just broke.

---

She stood before him, her eyes afire,
He seemed to quail before her ire.
Coldly she spoke, without a quiver,
"Take back your heart, I ordered liver."

Frosh: "I want to buy some gloves."
Clerk: "Kid?"
Frosh: "I should say not; I'm a college man now."

---

Berger: "Where is your car?"
Mott: "I turned it in as a payment on a turkey."

---

Chester B.: "How do you like my new shirt, after wearing it all day?"
Clayt. H.: "Oh, it's all right, but the cuffs don't take ink very well."

Autographs

He: "That orchestra isn't very good, is it?"
She: "It's having trouble keeping time with you."

---

Frosh: "Who wrote the first short story?"
Soph: "A Scotchman."

---

Soph: "My dad sent me something to keep my bills down."
Frosh: "That's fine. What is it?"
Soph: "A paper weight."

---

Roommate to new roommate: "Listen, what's yours is mine, and what's mine belongs to me."

---

Last night within my hand I held
Another hand so gently,
Great joy within my being swelled,
I held it most contently.
I'd like to hold that hand each night
And dream of wondrous places,
For the hand I held with such delight
Had just four natural aces.

---

What's that Frosh mooning about?
He's just making the character in his short story live.

Take a tip from nature. Man's ears were not made to shut; his mouth was.

---

There's music in the treble
Music in the bass;
There's music from the instrument and
Music of the face;
There's music of the church bell,
Music of the choir,
Music of the mandolin and
Music of the lyre;
Oh there's music of the dance halls and
Music every place,
In Africa and Hindustan,
In city and in space.
Music of the cat-gut string and
Music of the wire,
Some that holds you in its spell and
Some of which you tire,
But the lover's music tops the best
And sets the heart on fire.

THE ODE TO GARBAGE

One night when I was helping Ma with dishes,
We'd finished all the china,
And the kettles to come next
Were sitting on the stove.
One was filled with mellow rind
Which I would empty by the shed,
Where all the garbage meets its doom
In sacred burial.

I trod from off the back porch step;
A hoe was lying in repose;
As if my step was foreign then,
The handle hit me in the nose.
I stepped aside with much alarm,
A barrow handle hit my arm,
Another step aside within,
I caught a pail square on the shin,
One more hope to escape wreck
As the clothes line caught me on the neck.
I slipped in cringing from the line,
And landed on the melon rind.
I won't tell now quite what I said;—
I might be buried with the dead,
Instead of laying melon rind
Beneath the sod.

Junior: "I've a date tonight with that girl you introduced me to. I've this necklace for her birthday present."

Senior: "She's doing well. Ask her to show you the bracelet I gave her last week for a birthday present."

"Some guys are so dumb that they think Ann Arbor is a flapper."
"Well, isn't she?"

Mr. Van Putten: "Yes, he's just about as important as an admiral of the Swiss navy."

Frosh: "What is a joint account?"

Soph: "It's one with which one person does the depositing and another person the withdrawing."

H. Wyatt: (In the heat of an argument) "Why, say, the land is so poor that jack rabbits pack lunches to cross the country."

Tom: "Oh, for a five-day week. How about you, Bozzy?"

Bozzy: "I'm for a five-day week-end."

Toby T.: (In the heat of argument) "I know it's been that way ever since I can remember—at least fifty or sixty years."

Van Putten: "Who's America's greatest general, Heath?"

Heath: "General Motors."

Miss M.: "Why are these different kinds of leucocytes, when all of them perform the same function?"

Student: "Variety is the spice of life."

---

There is nothing noble to some other man. The true nobility is in being superior to your former self.

---

Jack: "What became of those black shoes of yours?"

Mike: "The patent leather ones?"

Jack: "Ya."

Mike: "The patent ran out."

---

Prof: "In which of his battles was King Gustavus Adolphus killed?"

Frosh: "It was his last, I think."

Barber: "Wet or dry?"

Kartak: "Cut my hair; never mind politics."

---

A man who cannot think, no matter how many facts he has stored in his memory, is not educated.

---

Dodo: "What is the term applied to people who steal?"

Reed: "Five or ten years, usually."

SENATOR JAMES H. STOUT
Pioneer Menomonie Business Man
and
Founder of The Stout Institute
To Whose Memory
This Section of The Tower Is Dedicated

The Founder of Stout

AN EDUCATIONAL PIONEER

THE late Senator James H. Stout, lumberman, pioneer in education, and prominent citizen of Menomonie, was the founder of the famous school that carries his name. Mr. Stout was a man of far vision and philanthropic tendencies. He had an intense and generous interest in the welfare of humanity. He loved the boys and girls and they loved and admired him. It may be said that his later life was diligently devoted to the unfolding of an idea that had for its purpose the practical training of the mind and hand of the young people.

The school had its beginning in 1890 in a small way and from that time until his death in 1910 Mr. Stout's educational activities grew in interest and widened in scope with the development of The Stout Institute.

Mr. Stout's efforts in the service of education brought him to the front in a conspicuous way in Wisconsin, and as the school grew his work came into national prominence.

No sketch of his life in brief space can do justice to the man and his service to humanity. He gave unsparingly, unselfishly of his time, thought, and money to the upbuilding of the school that he had conceived for the "promotion of learning, skill, industry, and honor."

Menomonie, home of The Stout Institute, claims marked advantages from many viewpoints. Not only is it known throughout the country as a city of educational initiative, but it is commanding increasing attention for other excellent reasons. It is noted as a city of good homes, a city about which revolves the life of a rich, progressive, and promising agricultural community; the center of almost unlimited water power, developed and undeveloped; a city which holds forth exceptional prospects to the manufacturer; favored with splendid transportation facilities, it invites the attention of those interested in distribution; located on the banks of the Red Cedar River and Lake Menomin and surrounded by a beautiful country in which abound streams that are well stocked with fish, it is in the heart of a paradise for the disciples of Izaak Walton, while the fertile prairies and restful valleys within easy distance are a lure alike to the home seeker and the tourist.

Among the industries which support this thriving community, agriculture must be accorded first position. Originally a part of the great timber district and the seat of the operations of the famous Knapp, Stout and Company, lumber manufacturers, Dunn County has gradually evolved into one of the richest farming areas in Northern Wisconsin. Dairying is the line of farming that is most favored and a tour through the districts contiguous to Menomonie invariably surprises the traveler by the character of the farm homes which it reveals. Wisconsin is known as the greatest dairy state in the Union and Dunn County ranks among the highest of the seventy-one counties of the state in the output of butter. All of the cattle in Dunn County have been tested for tuberculosis by the State of Wisconsin. Milk that is produced by healthy cows has a greater value and is safer for children. Hogs from counties that have had their cattle tested sell at a higher price on the market.

While Menomonie is essentially an agricultural community as a center of a rich dairy section, dotted with flourishing creameries and cheese factories, it has a splendid representation along industrial lines. Prominent in the industries are three large brickyards, tapping inexhaustible beds of finest clay. The flour industry likewise commands especial attention. Products of these industries go to all parts of the world. One of the largest manufacturers of hardwood lumber in the state has its headquarters in Menomonie as does also one of the large chains of lumber yards. A piano factory, nurseries, and greenhouses, cigar factories, metal works, and dairy enterprises, including several large creameries, cheese factories, and a condensery contribute to a liberal payroll for Menomonie workmen.

Menomonie's retail facilities provide an exceptional service. The city is a trade center for a large area, attracting shoppers for miles around by the complete, up-to-date, and high quality stocks of goods. Wholesale establishments are also well represented.

FEDERAL BUILDING

Strong, growing banks form a vital part of the business life of Menomonie and provide complete financial facilities for the needs of the community. The deposits in these banks will aggregate about $7,000,000.

The City of Menomonie is under the Commission Form of Government, governmental affairs being in the hands of a mayor and two councilmen. How well the people are satisfied with this system was indicated in the fall of 1920, when by an overwhelming vote the electors decided not to return to the old aldermanic form. The city has several miles of well paved streets, a fine white way system in the business district, and many imposing public and private buildings which give the place a metropolitan aspect. Among the public buildings may be mentioned the commanding structures which form the home of The Stout Institute, a Federal Building, a Masonic Temple, County Court House, City Hall, and the Mabel Tainter Memorial, a beautiful stone edifice presented to the city about thirty years ago by the late Capt. Andrew Tainter, which contains a completely equipped theatre, public library, rooms for the G. A. R., and W. R. C., amusement room, and dining rooms available for public use.

Menomonie has several fraternal organizations with large, active memberships. Among them is Hosford-Chase Post No. 32, the American Legion, which in conjunction with its Auxiliary unit, maintains club rooms, where visiting Legionnaires are always welcome.

Within the city are a number of musical groups, including the famous Ludington Guard Band, one of the best in the state, which has been in existence for many years. The summer concerts given on Tuesday evenings by this band from their shell in Wilson Park draw thousands of people from the surrounding country.

The city maintains a fine public hospital at which the charges are made as reasonable as possible. It owns several parks, in addition to which are a beautiful parkway along the lake front, another along Wilson Creek Boulevard, and other pleasure grounds along the lake and streams, owned and controlled by the Menomonie Improvement Association.

THE HOTEL MARION

The Menomonie Country Club enjoys a splendid nine hole golf course of incomparable beauty. Situated one mile from the city, on Federal Highways 10 and 12 and State Highway 79, on the banks of Wilson Creek, the location is ideal. Par for the nine holes is 36. The Club House is provided with dressing and lounging rooms for the men and women, showers, a pro and caddy room, a well equipped kitchen, a large dance and dining hall. The Country Club is available for use by visitors in Menomonie, and students of the summer school of The Stout Institute have the privilege of its use through arrangements with the school authorities.

The spiritual requirements of the community are provided for by several churches. The Congregational, Roman Catholic, two German Lutheran, Episcopal, Methodist Episcopal, Baptist, Norwegian Lutheran, and Evangelical Association groups have substantial church homes. Several have commodious parsonages. The pastors are men of ability and the auxiliary or organizations reach out into the community life in a way to greatly extend the church influence.

A school nurse is regularly employed in connection with the public schools so that with the health and poor departments of the city government the needs of the people in these respects are well provided for.

By its last census, Menomonie has a population of 5,104, but in appearance, enterprise, and business activity it is ahead of most cities of its size.

Its position as county seat of Dunn County makes it the official as well as the geographical and commercial center of the county. A circumstance which illustrates the importance of the city in relation to the surrounding country is the fact that ten rural free delivery routes emanate from the Menomonie postoffice, a number larger than that of any other county seat in Wisconsin.

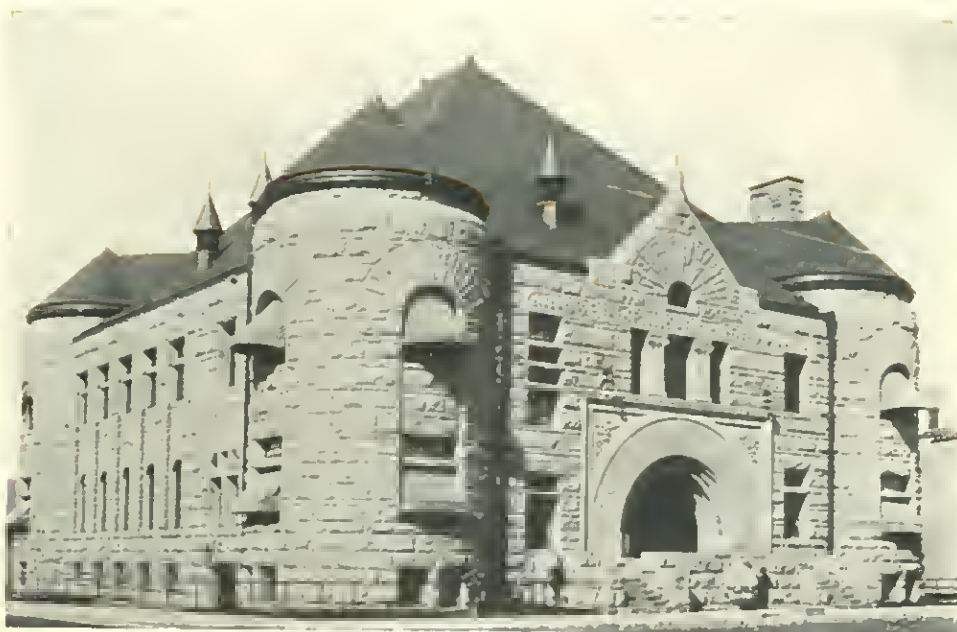

MASONIC TEMPLE

Representing the commercial, industrial, civic, and social life of the community is the Menomonie Commercial Club, an active body of citizens whose endeavor is to make Menomonie a better city in the four lines indicated. The club is housed in the Masonic Temple, and its quarters are a convenient gathering place for many movements seeking the betterment of local conditions. The club is ever alert to welcome the newcomer and an interest in which it prides itself is that of seeing that Menomonie is known as "the city of a square deal."

Menomonie is easily accessible to the motorist. The city is located on five Federal or State trunk highways. Federals 10 and 12 run diagonally across Wisconsin, forming a direct artery from Menomonie to southern Wisconsin and Chicago and a direct route to Manitowoc. Highways 25 and 79 run north and south and 29 east and west, providing a center for a network of important highways that make it convenient for the motorist to reach Menomonie. Located about sixty-seven miles east of St. Paul, the city is reached by two important railway systems, the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha (comprising part of the Northwestern system) and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. Motor busses operate frequently on Highways 10 and 12.

The Hotel Marion offers resident guests and the traveling public modern accommodations by virtue of the complete renovation of the Hotel Royal and the addition of a strictly fireproof annex. Fifty-two rooms comprise the capacity of the new hotel; all have running water, telephone, and other modern appointments, while a large number are provided with private bath. Good accommodations are also available at the Central House and other hotels.

MABEL TAITER MEMORIAL

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Emerson said, "Every great institution is the lengthening shadow of a great man." The truth of Emerson's statement is well illustrated here in Menomonie. Because of Senator Stout's position on the Board of Education of the Menomonie Public Schools, the shadow took shape and grew into the present Stout Institute. It was to the Public Schools that Senator Stout first turned his attention and it was in them that many of his progressive ideas were worked out. There is still reflected in the Public Schools much of the early progress which was developed when ideas new in educational thought were put into practice here.

The schools are organized along the lines suggested by the best modern practice into the senior high school, a junior high school, the intermediate and elementary grades, and kindergarten. The senior high school comprises the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades and has about 300 students. The junior high school comprises the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades and has about 250 students.

The courses of study in the senior and junior high school are organized around the five major fields of educational interest, namely: English, Foreign Languages, Science, History, and Mathematics. In addition to these, vocational work, manual training, home economics, and commerce are also taught. Opportunity for work in music and the fine arts is also offered. The school maintains, at a high standard, a band, an orchestra, and glee club for both boys and girls. A pupil with musical ability will find opportunity and encouragement to develop his talent.

MENOMONIE COUNTRY CLUB

The junior high school program is arranged to give the pupil a large number of comparatively brief contacts with the field of education. In other words, it proposes to give the students a sample of each subject that the senior high school has to offer. With this experience the student can enter the senior high school, knowing in a way his likes and dislikes, his special abilities, and with reasonable freedom of election select those lines of work which suit his interest best. Especial mention should be made of the exceptional opportunity for work along lines of manual training and home economics which is open to the high school students. All the facilities of Stout are available for this work, giving it a range and equipment far beyond that found in the average public school.

As proof of the quality of the high school work we point to the fact that the school is on the accredited list of the North Central Association of Colleges. This rating allows its graduates to enter without examination any college or university in the eighteen states comprising the Association.

The health of the children is carefully guarded. A graduate nurse is a regular member of the teaching force. She visits each room practically every day. Contagious diseases are detected promptly and epidemics prevented. Defects of eyes, ears, teeth, and throat are discovered and recommendation for correction made to the parent. Under-nourished children are formed into nutrition classes which meet for dinner one day each week. In addition, under-nourished children are detected and with the approval of the parents are given one feeding of milk each day at school. Correct foods are emphasized at the weekly luncheon. In Menomonie, parents can send their children to school with confidence that their health will not be jeopardized; rather, under the careful supervision, the child has a chance to grow up not only mentally but physically.

On the whole Menomonie Public Schools are a decided credit to the city. They could be better schools; in fact, a virile public sentiment will make them better schools each year. The spirit of Senator Stout still lives in the hearts of Menomonie citizens. And always their public schools will spell to their boys and girls the one big American word, Opportunity.

Menomonie also has several other schools, including the school of the St. Paul's Lutheran congregation and that of the St. Joseph's parish. The former represents a congregation consisting of some three hundred families; the latter has a school enrollment varying between 110 and 125 pupils.

The Dunn County School building is located in Menomonie. This houses the Rural Normal School and the county agricultural school.

The Rural Normal School was one of the first to be opened in Wisconsin, having been started in September, 1899. Since September, 1924, it has had the Bowman Model School, which furnishes adequate opportunity for demonstration of methods and for practice teaching.

The Dunn County School of Agriculture and Domestic Economy has several buildings adjacent to the main building. A four year course in Agriculture and a four year course in Domestic Economy are offered. Several other shorter courses are also available. Active extension work is carried out along many lines through the country.
